If you want to get your entire security deposit back, make sure you follow this apartment move out checklist.

Congratulations, the time to move out of your apartment is finally here! Whether you are moving into a home or to another apartment, this can be an exciting and stressful time. The most important thing to be aware of is policies regarding your lease and security deposit, but there are plenty of other items to think about as well.

If you are feeling overwhelmed by everything to remember before returning your keys to your landlord, we're here to help. This apartment move out checklist will help you to prioritize tasks and to retrieve your deposit.

Two Months in Advance

As soon as you think about moving from your apartment, it's time to visit your leasing company or landlord and ask about move-out guidelines in your lease. Ask for a copy of the lease and review the specifics regarding how much notice you give, who is responsible for cleaning, and other essential protocol items.

Prepare a list for yourself of what areas of the apartment need repair or fixing before your landlord walks through your apartment for final inspection. For instance, now is the time to repair and patch up walls as well as touching base with the superintendent or landlord for items they will fix, such as plumbing, electrical, heating and air conditioning, and general maintenance repairs.

One Month in Advance

Once you're certain about moving out, write a letter to your leasing company with the exact date of when you'll be vacating your apartment. If they require a longer time frame, follow their rules, or you may not get your deposit back.

Assuming you are just moving locally, start to think about who will be doing the moving - if you will be moving with the help of friends, or if you will be hiring a moving company. Either way, you will want to notify your friends or book a moving company for the day(s) you want to move.

If you have renter's insurance, contact your insurance company to advise them where you will be moving and to get the policy effectively transferred the day before you move out and into your next place. Start collecting boxes, tape, newspaper, bubble wrap and other essentials to start packing your belongings.

Three Weeks in Advance

Now it's time to start purging and organizing so that you are only packing essential items to use at your next home. Hold a garage sale, give items to charity or your church, or donate to other tenants in your apartment complex. Other tenants may love your old couch.

Start preparing for your move by asking for time off at work, look at boarding your pets if you have any, and change your utilities services well in advance. This includes telephone and Internet providers, electricity and gas providers, and water and other household services. If possible, turn on the utilities in your next home in advance of your move. This step will ensure you aren't unpacking in the dark at your new home!

Two Weeks in Advance

Call your moving company and follow up on any other essential reservations you made to ensure your move is on the books. Confirm times, dates, and addresses with the movers. Find out what time they will be arriving and ask for an estimate of how long it will take.

Ask your landlord if it's okay for moving trucks to be in the parking lot or street during your move. Many cities require proper notification in advance. If your apartment complex has an elevator, you may need to check with the management company about using it during your move.

Finish packing all items except the clothes, toiletries, and food you will need for two weeks. As moving day gets closer, try to live out of a suitcase rather than your dresser drawers and closet. Clean out your refrigerator and pantry, and if your move is local, consider using a cooler on the day of the move.

One Week in Advance

On this last week, start cleaning your apartment and emptying rooms as much as possible. Consider moving all your labeled boxes into one area of the room, away from the walls. Removing items will ensure you can paint, vacuum, patch up any holes, etc., before the move.

Ask your landlord when he or she will do the walk-through inspection, and then attend to any issues found during the walk-through. You might take pictures of the apartment to document the condition you're leaving it in.

Confirm if you will be getting your deposit back and confirm the address where you'd like the check to be mailed to or electronically deposited. Sometimes a landlord may opt to use the security deposit as last month's rent instead of returning it, so be sure to confirm. Ask about any deductions if necessary.

Moving Day

On the day of moving, wake up early before the movers. Have a good breakfast because it's going to be a long day! Here are some other items to check off your list on moving day:

- Take out the trash
- Fill your cooler with remaining items from the refrigerator
- Spot clean the refrigerator if your landlord requested it
- Carry packaging tape in the car with you for any last-minute opening and re-closing of boxes. (It always happens!)
- Make sure after everything is moved to sweep all the floors
- Complete another walk-through after moving is complete then return your keys
- Do a final walk-through of your apartment to ensure everything is gone, and all damage has been remedied.

Let your landlord know the apartment is vacant and return the keys. Double-check that he or she has your address and phone number for any follow-up conversations you may have.

Once you've completed these steps from this straightforward apartment move out checklist, you'll be ready to enter your new home with your old apartment's security deposit intact. Good luck! Have any other tips that helped you when you moved out of an apartment? Let us know in the comments.

Get your store purchased items delivered FAST. We can deliver grills, patio furniture, couches and other large items. More convenient, faster, and cheaper than traditional store delivery options. It's like Uber but for vans and pickup trucks to help move stuff across town.

I hope this letter finds you in good health. As we approach 2024, I want to extend our sincere appreciation for your dedicated efforts and outstanding service as a valued independent service provider on the VanDeliveryApp Marketplace in 2023.

Exciting changes are on the horizon; our goal is to enhance transparency in our payment structure and improve service providers' income. These changes will be effective January 1st, 2024. The new pay structure will now be based on a percentage of the total amount paid by customers before taxes, providing you with detailed information about what the customer paid. This change aims to increase transparency and align with our commitment to better compensation and mutual trust.

Key revisions to our pay structure include:

We also want to provide you more control over who you work with on 2 people jobs. You can now recruit your team members or moving helpers that you are comfortable with, and they will be automatically added to 2-people job offers you accept. Moving helpers need to apply to become service providers and will then be allowed to work with you on the platform. When 2-men jobs are received, a note will need to be added to confirm who the second person working with you is. You will have the option to pay them directly or request the platform to send payments directly to their helper.

Help us grow in Toronto and across Canada, you can now refer your friends and acquaintances in Vancouver, Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, saskatoon, Winnipeg, Hamilton, London, Windsor Ottawa, Montreal and Halifax. We will pay a $250 referral Bonus to you when any new independent service provider with a vehicle (SUV, Minivan, Cargo Van or Truck) Join the VanDelivery Service Provider Network and completes 15 moving or Delivery jobs.

These changes aim not only to increase your income but also to give you greater control and flexibility in delivering services. We anticipate that these changes will improve punctuality and customer service as well.

While 2023 had its ups and downs, with a great summer followed by a slow fall season, we want to assure you that we are actively working to enhance our system and increase job availability in 2024. Anticipate higher pay and more business opportunities as we strive to create a more thriving environment for all.

Please remember to ALWAYS click "en route", Click on "Start Job", write notes, and take pictures to document your work. Proper use of our system is crucial to ensure that our dispatching system is always updated with the current stage of an ongoing job. This will help lower your responsibility and liability as well as getting accurate and on time payments. It will also make it easier to address customer complaints or concerns properly and promptly.

Here are a few reminders to optimize your delivery service:

Compensation Process:

In the event of a customer complaint about damages, the compensation amount paid to the customer will be deducted from your future payouts. We always negotiate on your behalf for the best resolution, and you will be informed about any resolution and/or compensation to the customer by email. As stated in our service agreement (Section 2.11), your maximum liability is up to $250.

We appreciate your understanding and cooperation in adhering to these guidelines to ensure a high standard of service and maintain customer satisfaction. We are committed to working hard to protect our service providers, and your compliance is crucial in achieving this goal.

A new agreement requiring your signature, outlining all of the changes mentioned above will be sent to all of the service providers by email in January. If you have any questions or require further clarification, please do not hesitate to send an email our support team support@VanDeliveryApp.com. Thank you for your continued commitment to delivering excellence through our platform.

Wishing you a prosperous and successful 2024.

Best Regards,

Installation and maintenance

It is important to be prepared

Moving to a new place is intended to be exciting instead of nerve-wracking. While some moves do happen on the spur of the moment, many people know months in advance that they will be changing residences. If you fall in the latter category, put that time to good use and plan every detail of your move in advance. Here are a few reasons why not waiting until the last minute makes sense.

Competitive rates

How much does it cost?” It’s the age-old question that people have when it comes to hiring professional movers, and often times, can be the deciding factor for customers when they make the decision of how to move their belongings.

The old adage “you get what you pay for” has never been more true than with home moving services, and with EXECUTIVE LOADERS, you are paying for quality customer service and moving options! This starts with getting your free moving quote online, and there are variety of factors that come into play when calculating your moving costs.

Guaranteed satisfaction

Whether you’re just moving to a new house in the same town or going from one province to another in Canada, moving, especially long-distance moves, can be a stressful time. Fortunately, Canada is home to numerous moving companies who have the know-how and experience to make your transition a smooth one. The process to hiring a moving company can seem daunting, but following these tips can help you choose the right movers for your needs.

VanDelivery's Curbside delivery service has redefined the landscape of customer experience, blending convenience and affordability seamlessly to enhance the process of receiving furniture and large-item purchases. The focal point of this innovative service is its exceptional flexibility, allowing items to be delivered directly to the customer's preferred location, whether it be the driveway, loading dock, or in front of their house. This strategic approach eliminates the challenges associated with navigating through homes, narrow hallways, or staircases, thereby simplifying the delivery process and sparing customers from the logistical complexities often entwined with traditional in-home delivery. One of the most notable benefits of curbside delivery is its impressive cost-effectiveness. Efficient and professional service moving my bedroom furniture

Literally the best moving service in Toronto and the GTA. I did not have to wait days for availability nor did I have to call to check in. Everything was handled professionally. From the quotes on the site to calendar availability; I checked by 2pm and there were same-day slots available! The items were picked up as at when due and delivered safely to me.

Delivery of an AC unit

Twice I hired a team of 2 gentleman and a van and each time what they quoted on arrival was not what they had provided.

This was not the case with this company. They were quick and efficient and everything went smoothly. Great service too and reasonably priced, price was as advised. I had a last minute booking and they were able to schedule me in within the hour. I'd definitely use their services again, very grateful thank you :)

Thank you very much, Rose! It was a pleasure helping you! :)

Lazy Boy Chair Delivery

Excellent Company, Excellent Service. Had a chair picked up from a condo & delivered to my home. Spoke with Tony S who was very professional, picked up when promised, on time & charged a very reasonable rate. 2 movers & a van were sent on time, item moved with no damage to walls/floor, text messages & emails were sent 1 hour prior to pick up. Would highly recommend this company and will use again. Thanks Tony S.

Thank you very much for your review! We look forward to help you again!

Terrific service

I had to move a piece of furniture across town and it was so easy because Van Delivery kept me in the loop, even sent me a calendar notice and let me know what was happening each step of the way. Very pleasant to deal with. I will use them again and tell my friends.

Thank you very much Shannon! We look forward to help you again!

Moving dining room suite

I moved an antique dining room suite into storage and was really concerned that it not become damaged and be treated with the utmost care. They arrived promptly, were very pleasant, extremely efficient and the cost was more than reasonable. Would I use them again? You bet I will.

Thank you so much for your kind review! :)

Excellent, prompt, friendly service

Really happy with the office chair move. The whole process was quick and efficient. These are now my go to for small, local moves. I can recommend them without reservation.

Thank you so much for your kind review! :)

Sofa move from craigslist

Van delivery was great- they nice wrapped up the sofa and brought it down to my house with great service!

Quick and easy to arrange and very responsive. Would use again!

Thank you so much! :)

Couch pick up and delivery

Great service , fast , they were able to accommodate me last minute. Great communication through the pick up and on his way to bring it to me, no issues at all. Will definitely use this company again.

Hello Nathalie, Thank you for the review. Thank you for your business. It was a pleasure to help you

Great Service to a move of items to Salvation Army.

I called Tony with a very short timeline to move items out of my garage. He was able to accommodate me the same day. He was on time, offered options to keep the cost down and completed the job quickly. Would recommend.

It was our pleasure to help you :)

Exceptional company

I have booked this company numerous times over the last two years. I refuse to use any other company now. Tony and his team are extremely professional, punctual, efficient, and dependable. Tony has moved numerous items for us -- from furniture to boxes containing fragile items. Our furniture is always bubble-wrapped and delivered with care. There has never been even the smallest scratch or scrape on any of our prized furniture.

I highly recommend this company to everyone.

From a very satisfied customer,

Ruth

8. Dispute Resolution.

8.1. Arbitration.

You agree that any dispute, claim or controversy arising out of or relating to these Terms or the breach, termination, enforcement, interpretation or validity thereof or the use of the Services (collectively, “Disputes”) will be settled by binding arbitration between you and MBMT Incorporated, except that each party retains the right to bring an individual action in small claims court and the right to seek injunctive or other equitable relief in a court of competent jurisdiction to prevent the actual or threatened infringement, misappropriation or violation of a party’s copyrights, trademarks, trade secrets, patents or other intellectual property rights. You acknowledge and agree that you and MBMT Incorporated are each waiving the right to a trial by jury or to participate as a plaintiff or class in any purported class action or representative proceeding. Further, unless both you and MBMT Incorporated otherwise agree in writing, the arbitrator may not consolidate more than one person’s claims, and may not otherwise preside over any form of any class or representative proceeding. If this specific paragraph is held unenforceable, then the entirety of this “Dispute Resolution” section will be deemed void. Except as provided in the preceding sentence, this “Dispute Resolution” section will survive any termination of these Terms.

8.2. Arbitration Rules and Governing Law.

The arbitration will be administered by the ADR Institute of Canada (“ADR”) in accordance with the Commercial Arbitration Rules and the Supplementary Procedures for Consumer Related Disputes (the “ADR Rules”) then in effect, except as modified by this “Dispute Resolution” section. (The ADR Rules are available online or by calling the ADR at 1-877-475-4353.) The Commercial Arbitration Act will govern the interpretation and enforcement of this Section.

8.3. Arbitration Process.

A party who desires to initiate arbitration must provide the other party with a written Demand for Arbitration as specified in the ADR Rules. The arbitrator will be either a retired judge or an attorney licensed to practice law in the province of Ontario and will be selected by the parties from the ADR's roster of consumer dispute arbitrators. If the parties are unable to agree upon an arbitrator within seven (7) days of delivery of the Demand for Arbitration, then the ADR will appoint the arbitrator in accordance with the ADR Rules.

8.4. Arbitration Location and Procedure.

Unless you and MBMT Incorporated otherwise agree, the arbitration will be conducted in Toronto, Ontario. If your claim does not exceed $10,000, then the arbitration will be conducted solely on the basis of documents you and MBMT Incorporated submit to the arbitrator, unless you request a hearing or the arbitrator determines that a hearing is necessary. If your claim exceeds $10,000, your right to a hearing will be determined by the AAA Rules. Subject to the AAA Rules, the arbitrator will have the discretion to direct a reasonable exchange of information by the parties, consistent with the expedited nature of the arbitration.

8.5. Arbitrator's Decision.

The arbitrator will render an award within the time frame specified in the ADR Rules. The arbitrator's decision will include the essential findings and conclusions upon which the arbitrator based the award. Judgment on the arbitration award may be entered in any court having jurisdiction thereof. The arbitrator's award damages must be consistent with the terms of the "Limitation of Liability" section above as to the types and the amounts of damages for which a party may be held liable. The arbitrator may award declaratory or injunctive relief only in favor of the claimant and only to the extent necessary to provide relief warranted by the claimant's individual claim. If you prevail in arbitration you will be entitled to an award of attorney's fees and expenses, to the extent provided under applicable law.

The advent of on-demand pickup and delivery services has dramatically transformed the retail and furniture shopping experience. Major retail stores like Walmart, Target, and Best Buy, along with popular furniture outlets such as IKEA and Ashley HomeStore, are now more accessible than ever. This innovative service bridges the gap between the convenience of online shopping and the immediacy of physical store purchases. Customers can now select items from these renowned retailers and have them delivered to their doorstep within an astonishing two-hour window. This is particularly beneficial for furniture shopping, traditionally perceived as a time-consuming task due to the complexities of transporting large items. The availability of quick delivery options from stores like IKEA and Ashley HomeStore offers a seamless solution, making the process of refurbishing homes and offices more efficient and less daunting.

VanDelivery services stand out as the ideal solution for facilitating these on-demand deliveries. The primary advantage of using vans for delivery lies in their versatility and maneuverability. Vans are perfectly sized to navigate through both busy city streets and suburban areas, ensuring timely and efficient delivery to customers. This is crucial, especially when delivering large items like furniture, where traditional shipping methods can be slow and cumbersome. Additionally, vans offer ample space, allowing for the safe and secure transportation of a wide range of products, from electronics to furniture. This flexibility is essential for meeting the diverse needs of customers shopping from both major retail stores and furniture outlets.

In conclusion, VanDelivery services are reshaping the way we shop from major retail and furniture stores. By offering rapid, reliable, and versatile delivery options, they enhance the overall customer experience, combining the ease of online browsing with the satisfaction of receiving purchases promptly. This evolution in shopping logistics not only caters to the current demands of consumers but also sets a new standard in retail and furniture shopping, emphasizing speed, convenience, and efficiency. As we progress, these services are poised to become an integral part of the retail ecosystem, further strengthening the bridge between online and

Page: 8 Best Moving Tips for a Stress-Free Moving Day

Moving day can be a stressful and overwhelming experience, but with these 8 best tips for moving day preparation, you can gain valuable insight on some things that could be easily overlooked. It's important to understand that experiences vary based on a person or family's unique moving needs, location (whether you're moving within a city or out of town or country), and other variables such as the presence of children, pets, financial budget, and more. By considering these factors, you can better prepare for a smooth and successful moving day.

Introducing the transformative power of de-cluttering - a process of shedding unnecessary possessions and creating space for a lighter, more organized life. Now is the perfect opportunity to free yourself from the burden of excess belongings and embark on a journey towards a simpler, more fulfilling lifestyle. By letting go of what you no longer need, you can embrace a sense of liberation and clarity, making room for new opportunities and experiences. Take the first step towards a more streamlined existence and discover the joy of living with less.

Creating a comprehensive budget plan is an essential aspect of preparing for a smooth and stress-free move. It involves meticulously identifying and accounting for various expenses, such as the cost of moving supplies, determining whether to hire a professional moving service, booking an elevator on moving day, and even planning a food budget for the first few weeks of settling into your new home. By carefully considering these financial aspects, you can ensure that you have a clear understanding of your moving costs and are well-prepared for the transition to your new living space.

Create a comprehensive checklist to stay accountable and orderly throughout the moving process. Start by ensuring you have all the essential moving supplies such as sturdy boxes, packing tape, markers, newspapers, and any other necessary packing materials. To streamline the packing process, designate each room or section of your home separately and gather the corresponding packing supplies for each area. This systematic approach will help you stay organized and ensure that your belongings are packed and labeled efficiently for a stress-free move.

Ensure that you stay organized and maintain clarity by clearly labeling your content. It's important to label the boxes with the items they contain, the room to which they belong, and their fragility level as necessary. You can opt to number the boxes, categorize them by rooms, and label them with masking tape or directly on the box. Don't forget to appropriately highlight fragile items to ensure they receive the care and attention they need during handling and transportation.

Protecting your identity is a crucial step to safeguard against potential fraud and theft. While forwarding mail is an important foundation, it's also essential to consider enrolling in an identity theft protection program. This can provide added peace of mind and security, offering a proactive approach to monitoring and preventing unauthorized access to your personal information. In addition, activating a credit alert system can help to continuously monitor for any new accounts opened in your name and alert you to any suspicious activity, such as unauthorized credit inquiries. By taking these proactive measures, you can help ensure that your identity remains secure and protected.

Get a head start on your move by beginning the packing and preparation process as early as possible. Time has a way of slipping away quickly, so it's important to use this opportunity to put aside distractions like Netflix, TikTok, or your favorite Instagram Live show. By prioritizing your tasks and rewarding yourself for completing them, you'll be able to stay focused and on track. When packing your electronics, it's best to use their original boxes to ensure safe transportation and prevent any accidental damage. Additionally, fragile items such as glass, mirrors, and ceramics should be carefully wrapped in newspaper or bubble wrap to provide extra protection during the move. By taking these steps and planning ahead, you can help ensure a smooth and successful moving day.

Organizing and safeguarding your most important documents is crucial for maintaining a well-structured and secure filing system. Take the time to compile and categorize your documents into clearly labeled folders, ensuring that each one is easily accessible when needed. Consider consolidating all your important papers in a single designated location, whether it's a zip folder, file folder, or a secure banker's box, based on the quantity and types of documents you have. Prioritize security and privacy by carefully discarding any outdated or redundant documents. Take caution to ensure that you do not inadvertently dispose of papers containing sensitive personal information. By following these prudent steps, you can effectively manage and protect your most important documents, providing peace of mind and easy access when necessary.

Don't forget to ensure that your mail is forwarded to your new address. USPS and Canada Post offer a convenient redirection service that allows you to have your mail forwarded for up to six months. Simply visit your local post office to arrange for this transition period. It's important to make sure that the duration is sufficient for you to notify all of your important contacts about your change of address, such as utility providers, banks, your employer, school, government services, subscription services, and any other relevant parties. Taking the time to update your mailing address with these entities will help ensure that you continue to receive important correspondence without interruption.

Finally, for both dog owners and cat owners, it is highly recommended to keep your pet's food and water location unchanged during the moving process. By maintaining their familiar feeding and watering spots, you can help your pets to preserve their daily routine and minimize any potential stress or chaos caused by the excitement of moving to a new home.

For families with children, depending on their age, there are various ways to get them involved with simple tasks to help out around the house. For younger kids, you can encourage them to pack their craft supplies in a box or their dollhouse pieces in a bag, teaching them responsibility and organization skills while also lightening the load for the adults. As the pandemic has made it more challenging to find a babysitter, consider reaching out to relatives nearby who may be able to lend a hand and provide some much-needed respite for parents. By involving the children in household tasks and enlisting the support of family members, you can create a supportive and collaborative environment that eases the pressure for everyone.

If you're in need of a professional moving service, it's highly advisable to plan ahead and schedule the booking well in advance to secure the availability that suits your needs. Additionally, for those residing in condo or apartment buildings, it's important to note that elevator booking might be necessary, often requiring an advance deposit. It's recommended to liaise with your property manager to understand the specific requirements. By following a comprehensive checklist, you can ensure a smooth and stress-free transition to your new home.
