Page: Bongéni Delivery Rates | Mauritius Shipping and Delivery Service

One-off

Multi-Stop

Indicative minimum rates for a given vehicle category. Actual rates vary depending on the route distance and number of drop-offs for Multi-Stop mode of delivery.

One-off delivery is the most common shipping service for individuals or businesses, assuming one pick-up location and one destination.

The rate is calculated based on the vehicle type you choose, the distance between pick-up and drop-off and whether you will need driver's assistance with loading and unloading. Once you choose these parameters in the app you will get instant quote before confirming the order.

For the moment there are two payment methods available "Cash Payment" and "MCB Juice payment". For approved business partners "Payment by invoice" is available.

Multi-stop is primarily designed for business users and allows to create delivery orders with several pick-ups and several drop-offs on the same route. Multi-stop orders can be booked only in Web Booker.

You can get an instant quote in the Web Booker or in the Bongéni mobile app after completing a quick signup.

For multi-stop orders please use Web Booker.

Once you have selected a vehicle type for your delivery, you will have an option to request loading/unloading assistance by the driver. If you plan to move oversized items (like furniture), you may need to have extra movers available to load and unload your items together with the driver. So please make sure to have someone at the pickup and delivery locations to do the heavy lifting.

Bongéni retains user profile, transaction, and other information for as long as a user maintains their Bongéni account. For drivers Bongéni also retains vehicle and Certificate of Character information (to the extent permitted by law) for as long as they maintain their Bongéni account.

Senders may request deletion of their account at any time through the Settings > Privacy menus in the Bongéni app, or through Bongéni Support Center. Following such requests, Bongéni deletes the data that it is not required to retain for purposes of regulatory, tax, insurance, litigation, or other legal requirements. In certain circumstances, Bongéni may be unable to delete a user's account, such as if there's an outstanding credit on the account or an unresolved claim or dispute. Upon resolution of the issue preventing deletion, Bongéni will delete the account as described above.

Bongéni may also retain certain information if necessary for purposes of safety, security, and fraud prevention. We only collect and use personal data where we have lawful grounds to do so. These include processing user personal data to provide requested services and features, for purposes of Bongéni's legitimate interests or those of other parties, to fulfil our legal obligations, or based on consent.

We collect and use personal data only where we have one or more lawful grounds for doing so. Such grounds may vary depending on where our users are located, but generally include processing personal data:

a. To provide requested services and features

In order to provide our services, we must collect and use certain personal data. This includes:

b. For purposes of the legitimate interests of Bongéni or other parties

This includes using personal data to maintain and enhance our users' safety and security. For example, we use personal data to prevent use of our services by users who have engaged in inappropriate or dangerous behaviour, such as by retaining data of banned users to prevent their use of Bongéni's apps. We also use usage data to prevent matching of senders and drivers for whom there is higher risk of conflict (for instance, because they have been the subject of prior complaints from other users).

This also includes purposes such as combating fraud; improving our services, direct marketing, research, and development; and enforcing Bongéni's Terms of Service.

In addition, it includes using personal data to the extent necessary for the interests of other people or the general public, such as in connection with legal or insurance claims, and to protect the rights and safety of others.

c. To fulfil Bongéni's legal obligations

Bongéni may share data with law enforcement regarding criminal acts or threats to public safety, or requests by third parties pursuant to legal processes.

d. With consent

Bongéni may collect and use personal data based on the user's consent. For example, we may collect personal data through voluntary surveys. Responses to such surveys are collected on the basis of consent and will be deleted once no longer necessary for the purposes collected.

A user who has provided consent to a collection or use of their personal data can revoke it at any time. However, the user will not be able to use any service or feature that requires collection or use of that personal data.

Bongéni enables users to access and control the data that Bongéni collects, including through:

Bongéni also enables users to request access to or copies of their data, changes or updates to their accounts, deletion of their accounts, or that Bongéni restrict its processing of user personal data.

A. Privacy settings

Settings menus in the Bongéni app for senders give them the ability to set or update their location-sharing preferences and their preferences for receiving mobile notifications from Bongéni. Bongéni uses senders' device location services to make it easier to get a pickup whenever they request one. Location data helps improve our services, including pickups, navigation, and customer support.

Senders may enable or disallow Bongéni to collect location data from their mobile devices through the Settings > Privacy menus in the Bongéni app.

B. Device permissions

Most mobile device platforms (iOS, Android, etc.) have defined certain types of device data that apps cannot access without the device owner's permission, and these platforms have different methods for how that permission can be obtained. iOS devices notify users the first time the Bongéni app requests permission to access certain types of data and gives users the option to grant or refuse permission. Android devices notify users of the permissions that the Bongéni app seeks before their first use of the app, and use of the app constitutes a grant of such permission.

C. Ratings look-up

After every trip, drivers and senders are able to rate each other on a scale from 1 to 5. An average of those ratings is associated with a user's account and is displayed to other users for whom they provide or receive services. For example, sender ratings are available to drivers from whom they request logistics services, and driver ratings are available to their senders.

This 2-way system holds everyone accountable for their behaviour. Accountability helps create a respectful, safe environment for drivers and senders. Senders can see their average rating in the main menu of the Bongéni app. Drivers can see their average rating after tapping their profile photo in the Bongéni Driver app.

D. Marketing opt-outs

Users may opt out of receiving promotional emails, information emails and other messages from Bongéni by following the unsubscribe instructions in those messages. We may still send users who have opted out non-promotional communications, such as receipts for deliveries or information about their account.

We may occasionally update this policy. Use of our services after an update constitutes consent to the updated policy to the extent permitted by law. If we make significant changes, we will notify users in advance of the changes through the Bongéni apps or through other means, such as email. We encourage users to periodically review this policy for the latest information on our privacy practices. After such notice, use of our services will be understood as consent to the updates to the extent permitted by law.
