Is There a Difference Between a Quote and Estimate?

Simply put, a quote is an exact price for a job set by the mover while an estimate is the mover's best guess as to how much it will cost, subject to change. A quote is set in stone, unless there is a variation to your contract, which would include extra work or a change in the scope of a job. There is no such thing as a binding estimate, your contractor can change the price for a variety of reasons.

How Does Moving Valuation Work?

There are three levels of valuation. The basic plan is typically called “Release Rate Liability” and will pay you a certain amount of money per pound which is generally a fraction of what your item's value is.

You can also get “Full-Value Coverage” which means that, if your belongings are lost or damaged, will be repaired, replaced with like items, or you get a cash settlement.

Lastly, you will be able to mark your items on a “High-Value Inventory” list. All items that are valued at over $100 per pound must be on this list. This can be anything from jewelry to art to antiques and more.

Almost every home has an excess of items that have no real use anymore. From junk drawers to the attic, our movers will help sort through everything with you. We pride ourselves in staying organized, efficient and clutter-free.

While going through the property, you might find some items that don't have cherished memories or sentimental value attached to them. However, they might be too nice to throw away. Our movers will take any such belongings and deliver them to a local charity.

While we're not a full-on junk removal company, we do understand the need to responsibly discard items you can't keep or donate. Our crews are more than happy to throw away any debris or recycle any leftover items.

This is one of our unique services that set us apart from other Salt Lake City moving companies. If the item is too important or valuable to be donated and recycled, but still needs to go, we have just the solution. We work with local shops and retailers to sell your items for you. Simply tell us the items you wish to sell, and we will arrange an agreement between you and the local shops.

We understand that your loved one's possessions might not have a new home but are too valuable to donate. At Two Man Movers, we offer storage services that allow you to keep those items safe until they are ready to be moved. Our climate-controlled storage warehouse ensures that any and all items will be properly handled and stored until you tell us where to take them. We will pick up the items, store them in our vaults, and deliver them upon your request.

Family-owned and operated since 1999, Two Man Movers has an A+ BBB rating and offers free on-site estimates. No hidden costs. Fully licensed and insured. Do Movers Pack for You?

This will depend on what you want. Any established, full-service moving company will offer both packing and unpacking services. While this will cost a little more money, you will save time while resting assured that your items are taken care of as they are packed by experts with all of the right packing supplies.

Be sure to ask if your moving company's packing services are tailorable. It is good to have the option of having just some of your belongings packed, such as larger or more difficult to pack items. A reputable moving company works with you.

your items are taken care of as they are packed by experts with all of the right packing supplies.

Be sure to ask if your moving company's packing services are tailorable. It is good to have the option of having just some of your belongings packed, such as larger or more difficult to pack items. A reputable moving company works with you.

What is a Moving Valuation?

This is coverage for your belongings that financially protects them when lost or damaged. Most moving companies offer different levels of valuation and some offer separate liability coverage. All established movers will offer a level of free valuation, and then you can pay for extra protection. That cost will be based on the weight and value of your items. Speak with your moving representative to learn more about moving valuation, or insurance.

Page: About Us | Two Man Movers & Storage

Welcome to Two Man Movers & Storage in beautiful Salt Lake City! We're a family-owned and operated, full-service moving and storage company that has been in business since 1999. As a fully licensed and insured company, we offer top-quality residential, office and international moves, along with a wide variety of additional services.

When you book a move or store your belongings with Two Man, you can expect friendly, professional staff to guide you through all of your options with a smile.

The name literally tells the story! Two Man Movers & Storage started in 1999 with just two hardworking guys moving things for their friends. They started with one truck and did all the work themselves. Obviously, we've grown a bit since then!

Although the workforce has expanded, the fleet of trucks has increased and the number of moves performed each year has swelled, our commitment to customers remains steadfast. As Two Man President Mike Simmons says: "You don't get repeat business unless you care for people." We strive to treat each customer like a friend and family member, and we get many repeat customers!

Mike bought the company in 2014 and has continued to expand its reach since then. We have performed moves all around the Salt Lake City area and just past the border in Wyoming. We also introduced specialty moves and continued to work with the local community. Just because the company has grown, though, doesn't mean that we stray from our family-based values.

Here at Two Man, we're proud to be a family-oriented company. Mike Simmons has four kids, and you can see some of his family members working in the office from time to time. Not only are there blood relatives in the office, but every person on staff treats each other and customers like family.

Beyond family, each and every employee strives to live up to the company values: be kind, considerate, and compassionate to people and their belongings. And that extends beyond just business: Two Man is frequently involved in charity work as well. We've helped with Toys for Tots, Move for Hunger and the Salt Lake City Pride Parade.

Whether you work with Two Man in a private or a charitable setting, you can expect friendly service and to be treated with respect. We believe that moving is all about creating trusting relationships with people and their belongings.

We hope to create a meaningful working relationship with you! If you have any questions or would like to learn more, please call us at 801-924-1564 or fill out our contact form. We look forward to hearing from you.

How Does Moving Valuation Work?

There are three levels of valuation. The basic plan is typically called "Release Rate Liability" and will pay you a certain amount of money per pound which is generally a fraction of what your item's value is.

You can also get "Full-Value Coverage" which means that, if your belongings are lost or damaged, will be repaired, replaced with like items, or you get a cash settlement.

Lastly, you will be able to mark your items on a "High-Value Inventory" list. All items that are valued at over $100 per pound must be on this list. This can be anything from jewelry to art to antiques and more.

Do I Have to Get My Quote In Person?

No! As virtual options have become more popular, moving companies have followed suit. Any top moving company will allow remote options for your quote survey.

Now, when looking for virtual options, remember how important it is to have a good, thorough walk-through.

There are some moving companies who will offer “instant quotes” or quotes over the phone.

These should be considered as a “ballpark” estimate to be finished up later. Instead, look for an option over video chat where the moving representative sees your house and the items to be moved via their cell phone.

Do I Have to Get My Quote In Person?

No! As virtual options have become more popular, moving companies have followed suit. Any top moving company will allow remote options for your quote survey.

Now, when looking for virtual options, remember how important it is to have a good, thorough walk-through. There are some moving companies who will offer "instant quotes" or quotes over the phone.

These should be considered as a "ballpark" estimate to be finished up later. Instead, look for an option over video chat where the moving representative sees your house and the items to be moved via their cell phone.

What is the difference between a moving broker and moving company?

A moving broker is someone who does not have trucks or movers of their own but instead arranges to book your move and works with an actual moving company to carry out the job. A moving company has actual moving trucks and movers of their own and will work directly with you throughout the entire process.

You might be thinking, "Can Two Man Movers & Storage really move my motorcycle?" The answer – of course, we can!

Our Salt Lake City moving company has offered motorcycle moving services since 1999. Over the last two decades, we've perfected the art of how to transport a motorcycle quickly and safely.

Hiring our motorcycle movers means you'll receive nothing short of sterling service. Two Man Movers & Storage's motorcycle moving crew will always arrive with the necessary equipment to transport all types of motorcycles and motorcycle accessories.

With us on your side, you can rest assured that your motorcycle – whether it's being moved or placed in storage – will be returned to you in the same condition as when you entrusted us with it.

Keep reading to learn more about our comprehensive approaches on how to move a motorcycle and how to prepare for motorcycle storage.

Motorcycle moving is our specialty at Two Man Movers & Storage. Our motorcycle movers are trained to skillfully prepare, load, transport and unpack your motorcycle at your desired location.

We understand the nuances that come with moving a motorcycle in a moving truck as well as how to secure a motorcycle in a moving truck.

When hiring our motorcycle moving company, you will enjoy benefits like high-quality protective moving materials like fasteners, moving blankets and protective padding.

Come moving day, our skilled movers will arrive at your residence ready to work.

Motorcycles are transported loose, just like everything loaded in the truck. They are secured and protected during the loading process, so no damage occurs during transit.

Our professionals will start by first preparing your motorcycle for transport. Your bike will be secured using protective padding or a moving blanket – whichever offers more protection for your specific motorcycle.

Once your motorcycle has ample protection, our moving professionals will determine the best method to get it in our moving truck. Understanding your motorcycle's location in relation to our moving truck allows our team to anticipate and avoid any obstacles along the way.

After placing your motorcycle on the moving truck, securing fasteners and straps will be used to keep your motorcycle fixed in place. These ensure that your motorcycle does not move an inch while being relocated.

Upon arriving at your new destination, our motorcycle movers will carefully repeat the previous process.

We will determine the safest route of transport off our moving truck and to your desired location. Our movers always use extreme caution when handling motorcycles, so you can rest assured that your wheels will arrive on time and undamaged.

We realize that your motorcycle is an important object in your life. In order to ensure that it stays that way we advise you to adhere to the following directions to prevent damage to your two-wheeled sweetheart.

Our motorcycle movers will be unable to relocate and/or store your motorcycle if the following have not been adhered to:

Now that you've totally prepared your motorcycle for transport or storage, you can leave the heavy lifting to our movers.

When you need to ship your motorcycle, you want the best motorcycle shipping services at competitive prices.

Whether you've just purchased your motorcycle or want to ship your old one, Two Man Movers & Storage is here for you. Additionally, you're welcome to use our on-demand storage designed to keep your belongings stored safely and securely in our climate-controlled warehouse!

Our warehouse storage facilities in Salt Lake City are kept clean daily and are protected by a sophisticated alarm system to prevent unauthorized entry and to ensure nothing gets lost or damaged in any way.

Furniture, home appliances, musical instruments, and electronics must all be kept out of extreme temperatures to stay in working order. If left outside of a climate-controlled environment, these items can experience warping, cracking, rust and other forms of permanent damage.

You may be surprised at the amount of damage some items can sustain from exposure to cold weather.

Collectors must be especially cautious during this time of year. Coins, comics, stamps and wine can all experience premature aging if left exposed to improper temperatures or too much moisture. Don't let any of your property undergo these or any form of weather-related damage.

Short-term storage service is ideal for those who have moved long-distances and need storage for their items before getting settled in for good.

When choosing a moving company, be sure to ask about their storage in regards to:

How Does Moving Valuation Work?

There are three levels of valuation. The basic plan is typically called "Release Rate Liability" and will pay you a certain amount of money per pound which is generally a fraction of what your item's value is.

You can also get "Full-Value Coverage" which means that, if your belongings are lost or damaged, will be repaired, replaced with like items, or you get a cash settlement.

Lastly, you will be able to mark your items on a "High-Value Inventory" list. All items that are valued at over $100 per pound must be on this list. This can be anything from jewelry to art to antiques and more.

Two Man Movers helped us move from Park City to SLC this past week. Can't say enough how solid, thorough, fast and careful they were with everything. 100% recommend every member of the crew and the company. Huge thanks!

The office staff was friendly and responded quickly to any concerns we had. The guys who came to pack the house and move our furniture were professional, hardworking, and went out of their way to make sure it was a good experience for us. My husband said they worked like a well-oiled machine. Very efficient and good at what they do.

My experience with Two Man Movers was professional from beginning to end. Lila was great at helping answer questions keeping me informed and if she did not know an answer she found it. Andrew & Christian were both professional, packed everything with care, and moved in a timely manner. They listened to all instructions and went above and beyond. This is a great company for your moving needs.

Moving is an exciting time in a person's life. You don't want to let the logistics of the relocation get in the way of enjoying this transitional period.

Whether you're moving homes across town or moving a business across state lines, Two Man Movers & Storage can help you through the process with our comprehensive, top-rated moving services.

What started with two guys and a moving truck has turned into a thriving company with professional movers dedicated to customer service. Our family values have never left us since the beginning. We continue to offer the best moving and storage services in the Salt Lake City area.

Our family-owned and operated Salt Lake City moving company has been serving residents and businesses in the Salt Lake City area since 1999. As a fully-licensed and bonded moving and storage company, we offer top-quality residential, office, and international moves. We are a part of the American Moving & Storage Association and are a partner of Bekins Moving.

Two Man Movers & Storage serves Salt Lake City and its surrounding metropolitan area, including Sandy, Park City, Orem and Provo. We are highly active in the local community and frequently assist in charity events around town, such as Move For Hunger, Toys For Tots and the Salt Lake City Pride Parade.

We're highly rated by the BBB and have hundreds of 5-star reviews. Our friendly customer service and great value make us one of the top moving and storage companies in Salt Lake City. We are proud to serve our customers with great service and take pride in our work.

Our moving experience begins with a free estimate done by one of our highly-trained relocation specialists, either in-home or via video. Once a survey has been completed and an estimate given, we can book your move and lock down a fair price. The relocation specialist is your main point of contact throughout your move and is ready to answer all your questions.

You can trust our skilled and knowledgeable Salt Lake City movers to get you moved on time and on budget. Your moving experience will be stress-free throughout the entire process. Excellent customer service is high on our priority list, and we do everything we can to ensure your moving needs are met, from providing you a free moving estimate all the way to unloading and unpacking the last box.

Our services include:

Two Man storage facilities are state-of-the-art in terms of security and easy access. Your belongings will be stored in a secure, climate-controlled wooden vault. Whether you need your items stored for a month or a few years, our friendly staff can find the storage solutions right for you. Warehouse storage is a great option for clearing out the garage or holding onto extra files your office doesn't have space for but needs to keep in the long-term.

When you're ready to pick up your items, give our warehouse a call. We'll have your items ready for you when you pull up to the warehouse.

While there are plenty of movers in the Salt Lake City area, not all of them offer the same services as Two Man Movers. Our specialty moving services include moving seniors, transporting motorcycles, electronics packing and shipping, estate cleanout, decluttering, and antique moves.

When you need a specialty move completed in the Salt Lake City area, call Two Man. Our staff has the training and equipment needed to safely handle a special move.

At Two Man Movers & Storage, we've successfully completed all types of moves our founding in 1999. We can help make your local, long-distance, international, office, military or senior move a success, too. Don't entrust your valuable belongings to just any Salt Lake City moving company.

Our experience in the industry is second to none. Same with our customer service. A move with Two Man will take all of the stress off your shoulders. You won't have to worry about hauling heavy items up the stairs or even if all of your items will make it to the next destination in once piece. We guarantee satisfaction. You may be thinking "Can these movers near me really make moving this easy?" Yes, Two Man Movers ® & Storage can.

Contact us to get your Salt Lake City move started today or fill out our online form for a free estimate!

Do Movers Pack for You?

This will depend on what you want. Any established, full-service moving company will offer both packing and unpacking services. While this will cost a little more money, you will save time while resting assured that your items are taken care of as they are packed by experts with all of the right packing supplies.

Be sure to ask if your moving company's packing services are tailorable. It is good to have the option of having just some of your belongings packed, such as larger or more difficult to pack items. A reputable moving company works with you.

What is the Difference Between Local Moving and Long-Distance Moving?

You will see that every moving company talks about local moving and long-distance moving. Many people see or hear this and assume that it simply means how long your move is. However, local and long-distance moving can really be broken up into in-state moving and out-of-state moving. A move is local until you cross state lines once you do it becomes a long-distance move.

Do I Have to Get My Quote In Person?

No! As virtual options have become more popular, moving companies have followed suit. Any top moving company will allow remote options for your quote survey.

Now, when looking for virtual options, remember how important it is to have a good, thorough walk-through.

There are some moving companies who will offer "instant quotes" or quotes over the phone.

These should be considered as a "ballpark" estimate to be finished up later. Instead, look for an option over video chat where the moving representative sees your house and the items to be moved via their cell phone.

What is a Moving Valuation?

This is coverage for your belongings that financially protects them when lost or damaged. Most moving companies offer different levels of valuation and some offer separate liability coverage. All established movers will offer a level of free valuation, and then you can pay for extra protection. That cost will be based on the weight and value of your items. Speak with your moving representative to learn more about moving valuation, or insurance.

How Does Moving Valuation Work?

There are three levels of valuation. The basic plan is typically called “Release Rate Liability” and will pay you a certain amount of money per pound which is generally a fraction of what your item's value is.

You can also get “Full-Value Coverage” which means that, if your belongings are lost or damaged, will be repaired, replaced with like items, or you get a cash settlement.

Lastly, you will be able to mark your items on a “High-Value Inventory” list. All items that are valued at over $100 per pound must be on this list. This can be anything from jewelry to art to antiques and more.

How Does Moving Valuation Work?

There are three levels of valuation. The basic plan is typically called "Release Rate Liability" and will pay you a certain amount of money per pound which is generally a fraction of what your item's value is.

We all have unnecessary items that clutter areas of our homes including closets, table tops, and corners. Clutter can easily take over your home leaving you feeling overwhelmed and unhappy. Your house should be a respite from the world. A place where you want to be, a place where you can enjoy your family, your friends, and your life. If you have unused items or items that have no sentimental value, they need to go. Whether you put it into storage or donate it, it can help you have a little more empty space & organize your home.

Staying organized is one of the most important aspects of moving. So if there is a move in the near future, it becomes a lot easier once you have decluttered your home. It is important to donate items you no longer need; especially if you are downsizing. It sounds simple enough, but it's hard to truly gauge how much preparation and planning needs to go into a move. Many people don't realize how overwhelming it can be until they get started and that's why having the help of a professional mover is so beneficial. If you're moving to or from Salt Lake City and need help decluttering your home, you can count on Two Man Movers & Storage for a smooth and stress-free experience.

As a trusted mover in Salt Lake City, we offer unique service packages to customers who need to declutter their home. We offer comprehensive declutter moving services so you don't have to worry about what to do with your excess belongings. Our professional Salt Lake City moving crews will help you declutter your home with one of the following services:

While getting ready for your move, you will likely find some items you don't want to bring with you. We strongly recommend donating any items you no longer need or want, such as clothing, furniture, books, or old toys. Our moving crews will take any items you wish to donate off your hands and deliver them to a local charity. This is a great way to give back to the community, plus it will cut down on loading and packing time, making for a more efficient move.

During your move, you are sure to find some items that need to be recycled or thrown away, such as appliances that no longer work or outdated food items. The crews at Two Man Movers & Storage are happy to help you throw away any debris or recycle items you can't donate. This includes moving boxes, packing supplies, and much more.

One of the services that distinguish us as a professional mover in Salt Lake City is our consignment package.

Why not try to sell your unwanted items? This unique service allows us to cooperate with local shops to accept items from customers who are downsizing and resell them. Simply box up the items you wish to sell and we will arrange an agreement with a local shop.

The prospect of downsizing can be difficult for seniors facing a move to a smaller home, an assisted living facility or to live with family. A lifetime of memories associated with possessions can be daunting to wade through. Our decluttering crews offer help through the entire downsizing process. We will help you get organized and keep track of which items you want to take with you, and which you wish to donate or throw away.

Located in both the Salt Lake and Utah County, Draper, Utah is the state's sixteenth largest city. Draper was originally settled in 1849, but the city itself wasn't incorporated until more than a century later in 1978. Draper was for most of its history a local settler post, a small farming village and then became a major egg producer during wartime in the 1940s. For a while Draper was known as the “Egg Basket of Utah.” Chicken farmers settled there for the relatively cheap land, moderate climate and central location in the country giving them the ability to sell their eggs from coast to coast. However, Draper’s size didn’t drastically increase until the 1990’s when its population of 7,257 skyrocketed to its population today of around 47,710. Due to its proximity to Salt Lake City national brands like 1-800 Contacts, Control4 and HealthEquity have made Draper their headquarters.

Employers have brought a lot of prosperity to Draper. Strangely enough one of Draper’s largest employers is leaving at a time when its growth has been at its highest. The Utah State Prison employs around 1,000-2,000 people and stores over 4,000 inmates. This prison opened in 1951 when the old state prison, the Sugar House Prison, closed due to complaints from residents that it was too near to Salt Lake City. Ironically, the Utah State Prison in Draper will close its doors in 2021 for the same reasons as its predecessor. The new Utah State Prison will be located on Interstate 80/7200 West. The Department of Corrections had a ground-breaking ceremony on August 16th 2017 and the prison itself is slated for completion in 2020.

Draper is located 20 miles south of Salt Lake City and is nestled at the foot of the Wasatch Front. Residents get to enjoy over 90 miles of hiking, cycling and horseback riding trails. Locals enjoy using the trails for cross country running and amazing views of some of Draper’s landmarks including the Draper Utah Temple and the outdoor Amphitheater. At the Amphitheater you can enjoy cheap movies, musicians from across the country and entertainment that come through. The Draper Utah Temple is one of four temples located in the Greater Salt Lake City area and stands over 16 stories high (including the statue spire) and is said to service more than 60,000 members.

This is by no means an exhaustive list, but it's a good starting point to help you differentiate between bad movers and excellent movers.

If you're looking for a beautiful, mountainous city in northern Utah, Logan is the place to be!

The city is at the edge of the Cache Valley and surrounded by numerous hiking, skiing, rock climbing, fishing and camping areas with names like Beaver Mountain and Bear River.

Logan is also home to the Utah Festival Opera & Musical Theatre, a five-week festival that presents different operas and musicals in theaters around Logan.

Hike to Logan Canyon or visit Zootah, a local zoo. Zootah boasts eagles, reindeer, iguanas and monkeys!

Logan Canyon offers breathtaking vistas that stretch through the Bear River Mountains.

Like many Utah cities, Logan has a strong connection to the Latter Day Saints. The Logan Temple is the local LDS place of worship and was the second temple built in Utah by the LDS community in 1884. In addition to the religious connection, many families with children call the city home.

What is the Difference Between Local Moving and Long-Distance Moving?

You will see that every moving company talks about local moving and long-distance moving. Many people see or hear this and assume that it simply means how long your move is. However, local and long-distance moving can really be broken up into in-state moving and out-of-state moving. A move is local until you cross state lines once you do it becomes a long-distance move.

Ogden is the county seat of Weber County, just north of Salt Lake City. It was actually the first place in Utah to be settled by Europeans in 1846 by a fur trapper named Miles Goodyear. It was a prominent hub of railroad activity in the late 1800s, and you can see remnants of its former transportation glory all around the historic downtown and valley.

More recently, it was named by Forbes in 2010 as the 6th best place to raise a family in the United States. A majority of the households in Ogden are composed of families, and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints has a strong presence here. A wide variety of religious and historical sites are scattered all around the city.

If you're looking to move to Ogden, activities abound. Winter recreation is big business here, with three world-class ski resorts 20 minutes from downtown and a whopping 450 inches of snow each year! Its proximity to the Wasatch Mountain Range offers plenty of opportunities for hiking, mountain biking, skiing, snowshoeing, fishing and more outdoors fun. To the east of Ogden is the Ogden Valley, which offers plenty more outdoor recreational opportunities.

Another attraction unique to Ogden is the George S. Eccles Dinosaur Park. This hands-on and family-friendly museum boasts nearly 100 lifelike dinosaur sculptures. Dinosaur enthusiasts of all ages will have a roaring good time!

Do I Have to Get My Quote In Person?

No! As virtual options have become more popular, moving companies have followed suit. Any top moving company will allow remote options for your quote survey.

Now, when looking for virtual options, remember how important it is to have a good, thorough walk-through.

There are some moving companies who will offer “instant quotes” or quotes over the phone.

These should be considered as a “ballpark” estimate to be finished up later. Instead, look for an option over video chat where the moving representative sees your house and the items to be moved via their cell phone.

When picking a company to handle your moving experience, you'll want a professional moving company with credentials, experience and a focus on customer service.

While shopping around for a moving company, you should ask them a number of things besides what dates they are available and what their prices are. We've compiled a list of things you should ask each prospective moving company:

North from Salt Lake City lies the city of Layton. Like many Utah cities, it was founded in the 1800s by Latter-Day Saint settlers. However, the founding of Layton has a significant twist. It began as an outgrowth of nearby Kaysville, and the area of Layton and Kaysville were incorporated as a singular city in 1868. However, 20 years later, the citizens of the Layton area wanted out. A lawsuit ensued, and it reached the Supreme Court in 1894 as the case Linford vs. Ellison. The Supreme Court ruled in favor of Layton becoming a new town, which was founded in 1902.

Today, Layton is a bedroom community to Salt Lake City. It's also close to Ogden and Hill Air Force Base, with plenty of jobs and houses in the surroundings areas. With a population of around 75,000, almost 50% of the households are families with children under the age of 18.

Like so many other cities in Utah, Layton has a close relationship with the mountains and outdoors. Plenty of hiking trails, including direct access to Antelope Island, will appeal to the outdoor lovers. The east side of the city borders the Wasatch Mountain Range, which offers plenty of wildlife and outdoor recreational opportunities.

Overall, if you're looking for a quiet, family-friendly community near the mountains and Salt Lake City, Layton is a great place for you to live!

So, are you ready to pick the best Layton movers for you? At Two Man Movers & Storage, we're ready to help you transition into the next chapter of your life.

Let's get started by calling (801) 924-1564 or filling to get the ball rolling on your free moving estimate.

Everyone here at Two Man Movers & Storage is ready to assist you in this exciting time in your life!

When Is the Best Time of Year to Move?

There isn't a true answer to this. There are distinct seasons, but you have to decide which is best for you.

The first is summer. This is the busiest season. But there's a reason it's so busy. For families with kids, this is when school is out and they have more time. For everyone else, this is when the weather is at its best. There also aren't any major holidays to work around.

While summer is a great time to move, it's super busy. You'll have to schedule your move in advance and the price could be higher. Planning for a winter move means a simpler moving process.

Need help loading or unloading a truck or trailer for your upcoming move? Call Two Man Movers & Storage today. We have been providing the residents of Salt Lake City with exceptional and affordable moving labor services, including the professional loading and unloading of trucks and trailers since 1999. As a family-owned and operated Salt Lake City mover, and trusted industry name in the region, our ultimate goal is to give the customer a smooth and stress-free move, ensuring nothing gets damaged along the way.

Sometimes the hardest part of a move is loading and unloading the truck, particularly if you have any heavy or oddly-shaped items. Furniture and office equipment can be deceptively heavy, and if you're not careful, navigating stairs or thin ramps while carrying heavy objects can lead to damage either to the house or to your belongings. We have the experience and equipment to safely load and unload even the heaviest of items.

Our professional loading and unloading services are an integral part of our moving brand in Salt Lake City. We also offer these services as a part of our do-it-yourself move plan for residents in Salt Lake City. If you decide that you want to handle packing on your own, but need help getting everything on or off the truck, we will send you an hourly crew to assist.

Moving long-distance or out of state? We provide our loading and unloading services to customers moving around the country. Two Man Movers & Storage frequently performs these services outside of the Salt Lake City area, including in Wyoming.

Don't risk an injury or potential damage, call the professional moving crews at Two Man Movers & Storage at (801) 924-1564 or fill out our form for a free moving estimate.

At Two Man Movers & Storage, we have extensive knowledge on how to properly arrange the truck or trailer so that everything is well organized and securely fastened. We know the best way to arrange furniture, appliances, odd-shaped boxes, and even pianos or other specialty items. Properly packing your truck or trailer well not only means fewer trips during your move but is also essential to preventing damage en route to your new home.

Safety is paramount while moving bulky and heavy items. You don't want your move to become even more stressful with an added injury! Two Man takes pride in only using the safest methods while moving your items. One of those safety measures we frequently practice is using special ramps to load and unload your items. With these ramps, it ensures our safety and protects your belongings.

Whether you're moving to a new home or moving your business, picking up new furniture or putting items in storage, our expert loading and unloading crews can help. Let us do the heavy lifting, so you can relax on your move day.

Page: Moving Frequently Asked Questions - Two Man Movers & Storage

Why should I hire a moving company?

By hiring a professional moving company, like Two Man Movers & Storage, it can save you time and stress of having to worry about getting your items moved into your new home safely, and without loss of items or damage. Our professional moving team takes care of everything from start to finish, quickly and safely, plus we are fully-licensed and insured.

What is the difference between a moving broker and moving company?

A moving broker is someone who does not have trucks or movers of their own but instead arranges to book your move and works with an actual moving company to carry out the job. A moving company has actual moving trucks and movers of their own and will work directly with you throughout the entire process.

What is the Difference Between Local Moving and Long-Distance Moving?

You will see that every moving company talks about local moving and long-distance moving. Many people see or hear this and assume that it simply means how long your move is. However, local and long-distance moving can really be broken up into in-state moving and out-of-state moving. A move is local until you cross state lines once you do it becomes a long-distance move.

Do Movers Pack for You?

This will depend on what you want. Any established, full-service moving company will offer both packing and unpacking services. While this will cost a little more money, you will save time while resting assured that your items are taken care of as they are packed by experts with all of the right packing supplies.

Be sure to ask if your moving company's packing services are tailorable. It is good to have the option of having just some of your belongings packed, such as larger or more difficult to pack items. A reputable moving company works with you.

Are there items you can't move?

There are certain items that cannot be moved in moving trucks. Those items include:

Combustible Liquids (rubbing alcohol, antifreeze, cleaning materials, etc.)

Corrosive Liquids (Acid, Bleach, etc.)

Explosives (Fireworks, Ammunition, Dynamite, etc.)

Flammables (Aerosol Cans, Gasoline, Kerosene, Ammonia, Propane, etc.)

Food Items (Nothing perishable, subject to freezing, or sold in a bag or box)

Plants (No live plants or soil)

What should I do with my jewelry and other valuable items?

Any valuable items and important documents should be packed and moved by you personally. These items include:

Important Documents (Birth Certificates, Social Security Cards, Passports, Mortgage Papers, etc.)

Laptops and Portable Electronics

Medications

Jewelry

Money

Where do I Get Packing Supplies?

From belts to bubble wrap to dollies, moving blankets, moving boxes, and totes, there's a lot of packing supplies needed for a safe move. Be sure to start getting these items together early on if you are packing yourself.

First, check to see if your friends and family have any supplies left over from a recent move. After this, check in with your movers. They typically will sell all of the packing supplies you could need at a great price or will include them with your move.

What is a Moving Valuation?

This is coverage for your belongings that financially protects them when lost or damaged. Most moving companies offer different levels of valuation and some offer separate liability coverage. All established movers will offer a level of free valuation, and then you can pay for extra protection. That cost will be based on the weight and value of your items. Speak with your moving representative to learn more about moving valuation, or insurance.

How Does Moving Valuation Work?

There are three levels of valuation. The basic plan is typically called “Release Rate Liability” and will pay you a certain amount of money per pound which is generally a fraction of what your item’s value is.

You can also get “Full-Value Coverage” which means that, if your belongings are lost or damaged, will be repaired, replaced with like items, or you get a cash settlement.

Lastly, you will be able to mark your items on a “High-Value Inventory” list. All items that are valued at over $100 per pound must be on this list. This can be anything from jewelry to art to antiques and more.

Is There a Difference Between a Quote and Estimate?

Simply put, a quote is an exact price for a job set by the mover while an estimate is the mover’s best guess as to how much it will cost, subject to change. A quote is set in stone, unless there is a variation to your contract, which would include extra work or a change in the scope of a job. There is no such thing as a binding estimate, your contractor can change the price for a variety of reasons.

Do I Have to Get My Quote In Person?

No! As virtual options have become more popular, moving companies have followed suit. Any top moving company will allow remote options for your quote survey.

Now, when looking for virtual options, remember how important it is to have a good, thorough walk-through.

There are some moving companies who will offer “instant quotes” or quotes over the phone.

These should be considered as a “ballpark” estimate to be finished up later. Instead, look for an option over video chat where the moving representative sees your house and the items to be moved via their cell phone.

How Do I Know Which Movers are Trustworthy?

With how big the moving industry is, it can be pretty difficult to determine who the best moving company is for you. Here are some of the key things to look for when researching a moving company:

Badges: Look to see if they have any certifications or if they are accredited by the BBB. These will also show you if they have won any awards for top service.

Experience: You may want to avoid movers that are relatively new. Experience is key to a good move. This could be listed anywhere on the site, but the most surefire location is in their About Us page.

Reviews: Find online reviews. If a moving company has less than a 4-star average rating on their Google Reviews, there is most likely an issue there.

Family-Owned and Operated: This is always a big plus. Not only will this help you avoid shady moving companies, but it will also help you avoid ones that are too big to genuinely care about your move.

The only way to know for sure is to do in-depth research. As you narrow down your list, look more and more into these aspects of the company to find the best one for you.

Is your moving company properly licensed and insured?

Yes, our moving company is fully-licensed and insured. For example, our licensing numbers are MC 87113, USDOT 70719 and Utah Business License 1001221. We are also fully insured providing general liability and workers comp.

Can I Store My Items During a Move?

Yes! Your moving company will be happy to take your items to their warehouse storage. To make storing your belongings easy, look for a full-service moving company that provides warehouse storage with climate-control and 24/7 surveillance.

With warehouse storage, your movers will pack up your items, load them up in their truck, store them in their warehouse, then deliver it to your new home when you're ready. In fact, for those with a full house, storage can be even easier with On-Demand Storage options.

When Is the Best Time of Year to Move?

There isn't a true answer to this. There are distinct seasons, but you have to decide which is best for you.

The first is summer. This is the busiest season. But there's a reason it's so busy. For families with kids, this is when school is out and they have more time. For everyone else, this is when the weather is at its best. There also aren't any major holidays to work around.

While summer is a great time to move, it's super busy. You'll have to schedule your move in advance and the price could be higher. Planning for a winter move means a simpler moving process.

By hiring a professional moving company, like Two Man Movers & Storage, it can save you time and stress of having to worry about getting your items moved into your new home safely, and without loss of items or damage. Our professional moving team takes care of everything from start to finish, quickly and safely, plus we are fully-licensed and insured.

A moving broker is someone who does not have trucks or movers of their own but instead arranges to book your move and works with an actual moving company to carry out the job. A moving company has actual moving trucks and movers of their own and will work directly with you throughout the entire process.

You will see that every moving company talks about local moving and long-distance moving. Many people see or hear this and assume that it simply means how long your move is. However, local and long-distance moving can really be broken up into in-state moving and out-of-state moving. A move is local until you cross state lines once you do it becomes a long-distance move.

This will depend on what you want. Any established, full-service moving company will offer both packing and unpacking services. While this will cost a little more money, you will save time while resting assured that your items are taken care of as they are packed by experts with all of the right packing supplies.

Be sure to ask if your moving company's packing services are tailorable. It is good to have the option of having just some of your belongings packed, such as larger or more difficult to pack items. A reputable moving company works with you.

There are certain items that cannot be moved in moving trucks. Those items include:

Any valuable items and important documents should be packed and moved by you personally. These items include:

From belts to bubble wrap to dollies, moving blankets, moving boxes, and totes, there's a lot of packing supplies needed for a safe move. Be sure to start getting these items together early on if you are packing yourself.

First, check to see if your friends and family have any supplies left over from a recent move. After this, check in with your movers. They typically will sell all of the packing supplies you could need at a great price or will include them with your move.

This is coverage for your belongings that financially protects them when lost or damaged. Most moving companies offer different levels of valuation and some offer separate liability coverage. All established movers will offer a level of free valuation, and then you can pay for extra protection. That cost will be based on the weight and value of your items. Speak with your moving representative to learn more about moving valuation, or insurance.

There are three levels of valuation. The basic plan is typically called "Release Rate Liability" and will pay you a certain amount of money per pound which is generally a fraction of what your item's value is.

You can also get "Full-Value Coverage" which means that, if your belongings are lost or damaged, will be repaired, replaced with like items, or you get a cash settlement.

Lastly, you will be able to mark your items on a "High-Value Inventory" list. All items that are valued at over $100 per pound must be on this list. This can be anything from jewelry to art to antiques and more.

Simply put, a quote is an exact price for a job set by the mover while an estimate is the mover's best guess as to how much it will cost, subject to change. A quote is set in stone, unless there is a variation to your contract, which would include extra work or a change in the scope of a job. There is no such thing as a binding estimate, your contractor can change the price for a variety of reasons.

No! As virtual options have become more popular, moving companies have followed suit. Any top moving company will allow remote options for your quote survey.

Now, when looking for virtual options, remember how important it is to have a good, thorough walk-through. There are some moving companies who will offer “instant quotes” or quotes over the phone.

These should be considered as a “ballpark” estimate to be finished up later. Instead, look for an option over video chat where the moving representative sees your house and the items to be moved via their cell phone.

With how big the moving industry is, it can be pretty difficult to determine who the best moving company is for you. Here are some of the key things to look for when researching a moving company:

The only way to know for sure is to do in-depth research. As you narrow down your list, look more and more into these aspects of the company to find the best one for you.

Yes, our moving company is fully-licensed and insured. For example, our licensing numbers are MC 87113, USDOT 70719 and Utah Business License 1001221. We are also fully insured providing general liability and workers comp.

Yes! Your moving company will be happy to take your items to their warehouse storage. To make storing your belongings easy, look for a full-service moving company that provides warehouse storage with climate-control and 24/7 surveillance.

With warehouse storage, your movers will pack up your items, load them up in their truck, store them in their warehouse, then deliver it to your new home when you're ready. In fact, for those with a full house, storage can be even easier with On-Demand Storage options.

The office staff was friendly and responded quickly to any concerns we had. The guys who came to pack the house and move our furniture were professional, hardworking, and went out of their way to make sure it was a good experience for us. My husband said they worked like a well-oiled machine. Very efficient and good at what they do.

My experience with Two Man Movers was professional from beginning to end. Lila was great at helping answer questions keeping me informed and if she did not know an answer she found it. Andrew & Christian were both professional, packed everything with care, and moved in a timely manner. They listened to all instructions and went above and beyond.
